THE OFFICIAL PRESS RELEASE

MONROE TOWNSHIP / NEW JERSEY

MONROE TOWNSHIP, N.J. — October 11, 2026 — MyTi Films has quietly launched MyTiFilms.com, a free streaming platform for series and films created with generative AI, bringing together original concepts and reimaginings of legendary stories. The platform went live in October with a full release calendar behind it: eight titles premiering monthly from November 2026 through 2027, beginning with "Medusa," a reimagining of the Greek legend, on November 20. Members — membership is free — watch every premiere seven days early, starting with "Medusa" on November 13.

The slate blends original concepts with reimagined legends and ancient tales, including the Hindi-language series "Parshuram" (March 6) and "Murugan" (May 9), inspired by Hindu mythology. Other releases span detective thrillers, a steampunk epic and a sci-fi western: "Master Holmes" (December 20), "Black Haven" (January 1), "Venus on Earth" (February 7), "Atlantis" (April 7), and "Star Sheriff" (2027). Each series carries its own original soundtrack in a signature genre, from modern rock to trip-hop.

MyTi Films is built on the River Comics universe: River Comics, the publisher of more than 30 original titles, has granted MyTi Films the exclusive rights to adapt its entire catalog — giving the independent studio a library of stories and its own platform to premiere them on, with no studio backing.

"We launched quietly on purpose — we wanted the platform standing before the spotlight. Now it's time to take a look at what it's all about," said Jai Thakar, producer and founder of MyTi Films. "AI didn't just lower the cost of making films — it broke the assumption that you need a studio to run a slate. We're eight titles deep with a team you could fit in a conference room."

Every title on the platform is clearly labeled as AI-generated — on posters, trailers, and the films themselves. "We label everything AI-generated, on every poster and every film," Thakar said. "It's not a disclaimer to us — it's the brand. Premium AI content is the whole idea."

A MyTi Films mobile app for iOS and Android is planned for this December, bringing the full platform to phones and tablets.

Viewing is free with no subscription and no paywall. Free members receive seven-day early access to every premiere. Trailers, key art, and the full press kit are available at MyTiFilms.com/press.
